LEGISLATOR'S AND F.O. BLUE CONSULT ON LIQUOR LAWS

Amender to Strengthen the Yost Law Will Be Shaped Up.

COMMITTEES AT WORK

Public Hearings Set for Pipe Line and B. and L. Bills.

CHARLESTON, W. Va., Jan. 23.—

The committee on prohibition of both Senate and House of Delegates held a joint meeting after recess was taken yesterday by the Legislature in the office of the commissioner of prohibition and discussed at length all recognized phases of the prohibitory laws of West Virginia, which, according to general opinion, are not sufficient for their purposes.

The committee members admitted that amendments are necessary and that it will require much time and careful consideration of the subject before amendments can be decided on which will give the remedies sought in reducing the illegal selling industry, which they say has become a menace to West Virginia society.

A number of bills have been prepared covering the subject of prohibition, but none so far considered by the prohibition authorities and the legislative committees handling the subject contain all the features desired.

Senator Ben L. Rosenbloom, who has indicated that he will ask for the adoption of a joint resolution providing for the re-submission of the question of prohibition to a vote of the people, said today that this resolution will not be presented until after all those seeking amendments to the prohibitory laws have finished their program and have decided on what changes they wish in the present statutes.

The first bill to pass the Senate was that providing for an amendment to the Wheeling charter. The next was that relative to binding the Supreme Court records in leather. It was also passed by the House.

When the Senate bill to provide the state with a mine rescue car comes up as a special order of business at 2 p. m. today an amendment will be considered to place the appointment of director of mine rescue work in the hands of the governor and not in those of the state mine chief.

Senator Kump's bill, which proposes to give courts of criminal jurisdiction certain powers with reference to the release of prisoners on probation, was reported favorably by the committee as was that to provide for a state home for the feeble-minded, and a number of others, principally of a local nature.

House committees rejected eight bills, nearly all of which dealt with local subjects, and reported favorably on 14, among them being measures to change the time for holding court in the Nineteenth and Twentieth circuits, prohibiting division of fees by physicians and surgeons; amending section 12, chapter 138 of the code relative to the practice of medicine and surgery; requiring persons or concerns engaging in public service business in competition with other public service concerns to receive certificates of necessity and authority from the Public Service Commission; creating the municipal corporation of Morgantown.

Among the 27 bills originating in the House were those providing for a board of censorship for motion pictures; to prohibit the collection of fees from employees of industrial organizations for paying a company physician; to establish a state sanitarium for negroes. A number of the measures offered cover subjects such as road improvements and were substitutes for bills formerly presented.

Of the nine bills introduced in the Senate, one by Senator Hawley provides for the county of Mercer to borrow $46,500 from a sinking fund to be used in improving public roads. Another, by Senator Rosenbloom, is to regulate the profession of shorthand reporting. Senator Carter introduced a bill which proposes the establishment of an agricultural department in connection with the Tyler county high school and the purchase of not less than 100 acres of land for the purpose. Senator Gregory offered a bill to exempt Civil War soldiers and sailors from payment of occupational license taxes. Senator Gribble offered a measure relating to the time of holding municipal elections.

Chairman Robert L. Gregory of the Senate Judiciary committee announced that a public hearing will be held on the oil and gas, pipe line and compressor bills the evening of January 31 and February 1. There are a number of these bills, each proposing some form of tax. The Godbey bill, relating to building and loan associations, will have a public hearing before the committee on January 26. If present plans are carried out the House and Senate committees, to which road legislation was referred, will hold a joint session for the purpose of agreeing on some bill. More than a dozen bills relating to roads are now pending in the two houses.

"Economy had another inning this morning when Delegate Sweeney, of Wood county, offered to act as clerk of the committee on education without charge and with his other duties and thus save the state $4 a day if the House would make his committee clerk reading clerk at a salary of $8 a day, taking the place of Assistant Clerk Dan Leonard, who is now in a local hospital as a result of injuries received in falling from a window. The rules committee had recommended that the clerk appoint another reading clerk, vice Leonard.

As required by statute, the Attorney General filed his report on the Virginia debt controversy with the Legislature. The report simply shows the expenditures and history of the case in the courts.

The House has run the total number of bills up to 193 and the Senate to 113.

McGraw, former Democratic National commit-tee man from West Virginia, who is charged with having misappropriated some of the funds of the Gratton bank, has been set for trial at the February term of the Randolph county circuit court, which will convene on February 13. The case has been placed at the end of the docket and attorneys believe it will not be called before March 15. The trial was to have been held in Taylor county but a change of venue was granted to this county.

In a recent issued the Gauley News printed the following:

"The recent high tide in Gauley river has removed one of the most interesting old landmarks of the early settlement of the Gauley River Valley. This old pine tree grew near the water's edge, at a shallow ford, where the old trail crossed the river at a point two miles above Belya.

"The trail, while only wide enough for pack horses to travel, was of much importance to the early settlers, as it extended down the Kanawha river to the salt licks, now Malden, the nearest point where salt could be bought. It was on the return of one of these salt trains that the event happened that gave this historical old tree its name of 'The Indian Pine.' In the party was Henry Morris, a skilled hunter and an exceptionally good marksman, who was sent in advance of the pack train to see if there were any Indians near. Upon arriving at the ford his trained eye noticed an object in the tree on the opposite bank.

He fired, the Indian falling out of the tree into the river dead.

"The old tree was in an excellent state of preservation until a few years ago when it was badly damaged by a blast on the K & W. Va. Ry., which was graded near it."

Alleged Slayer is Ready to Admit Guilt

HUNTINGTON, W. Va., Jan. 23.—Harvey Terry, alleged triple murderer, has promised to make a full confession, was the statement of Chief of Police Sam Davis last night at the conclusion of an investigation which has absorbed the attention of the entire police department since 8 o'clock Saturday night, when Mrs. Lillian G. Terry, her mother, Mrs. Victoria Black, and her cousin, Mrs. Lulu Spruick, were shot to death in Mrs. Black's home.

Ever since Terry's arrest last Saturday he has denied any knowledge of the crime and declared he had not been outside his room all Saturday night. When confronted by two persons who positively identified him as the man they saw leaving the Black home a few minutes after the shooting and the evidence of an 8-year-old girl that tended to break down the alibi which Terry tried to establish he weakened and admitted his guilt.

AUTOIST DROWNED IN STREAM. KEYSER, W. Va., Jan. 23.—Perry Kesner, aged 20, son of M. S. Kesner, of Alaska, W. Va., was drowned in New creek, two miles from this place, when he was hurled into the swollen stream from his automobile as the machine dashed down an embankment. His body has not been recovered.

SISTERS WED BROTHERS. HUNTINGTON, W. Va., Jan. 23.—A double wedding, in which the brides were sisters and the grooms were brothers, was celebrated at the home of the brides in South Point. Miss Ella Hoke became the bride of Frank Cassel of Springs, W. Va. and Miss Nora Hoke became the bride of Roy Cassel.

BONA COFFEE

"Mother" (in her early days) was never privileged to enjoy such a luxury as a cup of "Bona" Coffee

Then methods were crude. Coffees were bought in their green state and roasted at home.

Today conditions are vastly different. Coffee roasting and blending have become an art.

The best coffees after careful selection and rigid inspection are the only kind that are used in "Bona Blend" is cleaned thoroughly by our blower process, blended by experts and roasted in modern ovens—timed to the second—and at a certain degree of heat. By this process every berry is uniformly roasted. It is then steel-cut (chaff removed) and immediately packed in air-tight tin cans before any of the original flavor and strength is impaired.

BONA COFFEE

Mother today can appreciate more than ever the delicious flavor and wonderful cup quality of "Bona" coffee. Be good to her. Serve her the best. Serve "Bona."
